

HSE STANDARDS FOR RECYCLING SERVICES COMPANIES

recycling services of materials

Services description: These are procedures and processes for reusing/ converting materials into materials with other uses, including business plans, equipment and human materials necessary for the process and the required accreditations.

The basic standards :

- Obtaining a license for recycling services activities.
- Obtaining accreditation from the Department of Health, Safety and Environment.
- Provide an integrated and approved action plan from the Department of HSE
- The activities carried out are in accordance with all local and federal laws and regulations on environmental conservation.
- Provide an integrated environmental study of recycled materials
- Providing modern, specialized and adequate resources of equipment, technical staff and materials for cleaning and sterilization according to numbers and quantities that meet a high level of service
- Providing integrated and continuous training programs for employees
- Provides programs for studies and smart recycling solutions
- Get the ISO 14001 and 18001.
- Provide employees with all necessary tools and personal protection and protection tools commensurate with the nature of their work.
- Provide employees with all the tools and equipment needed to enable them to perform their work professionally and effectively.
- Provide uniforms for technicians, supervisors, workers and observers and carry the company's logo.